Craig Tobin began his legal career in 1980 as a lawyer for the Cook County Public Defender's Office. When he left the elite Homicide Task Force and formed his own practice in 1985, he saw an opportunity to offer the same sort of committed advocacy.

"As a public defender, I felt that I was providing a tremendous public service," Tobin says. "So I wanted to continue that feeling in private practice, while broadening my ability to help other people."

Craig Tobin is recognized as one of the best trial lawyers in the United States. Today, Tobin & Muñoz is a nationally recognized boutique trial firm focusing on complex civil litigation, personal injury, regulatory matters, national/international business, and criminal representation.

The firm's many significant results include a record $4 million verdict this past summer in a chronic pain personal injury case, as well as a $1.55 million verdict and a $1.75 million settlement in two high-profile civil rights cases.

"We offer a level of experience that has really made a difference in these complex cases," notes Tobin, who has been included in The Best Lawyers in America, Super Lawyers, Leading Lawyers and Top Rated Lawyers.

Tobin's partner, George Muñoz, has also been listed in Super Lawyers and Top Rated Lawyers. Muñoz is a former assistant secretary and chief financial officer of the U.S. Treasury (1993-1997). Muñoz was president and CEO of the Overseas Private Investment Corporation (1997-2001) and past-president of the Chicago School Board (1984-1987). He and Tobin are joined at the firm by Tomas Petkus—a pioneer in the use of digital technology at trial—and attorneys Paula Fuller Tobin and Sean Sullivan.
